age at Haworth, Yorkshire, England.

Part One
Late afternoon in the year 1845.

Part Two
Late that night.

Part Three
(Three years later.)
A morning in September, 1848.

Part Four
Evening of the same day.

Part Five
Three months later, about noon.
HISTORICAL COMMENT

For those of our audience who know the story of the Bronte sisters, those three women who saw accomplishment and tragedy walking hand in hand throughout their lives, the plot needs no enlargement. For those unacquainted with the history of Rev. Bronte's family, we would like to point out to them that the accomplishment of these three girls was all the more remarkable because they lived in an age when an unknown person had little chance for recognition and a woman's participation in public affairs or the arts was looked upon by many as a shocking thing.

NOTE

An enormous number of students were turned away from "You Can't Take It With You." We are sorry, but with our limited seating capacity there is nothing we can do about it except to say, come early in the week!
